

Somewhere over the rainbow... Dorothy Meets Barbie!

What a great idea! MGM wishes they would've thought of that back in the day. Those execs were always trying to get Judy Garland to lose weight. But Mattel has eliminated the "chubby" issue once and for all—by casting Barbie as Dorothy!

Barbie is tall, svelte and has a ginormous pair of...Eyes—so it really doesn't matter that she can't sing or dance. They can electronically dub in Judy's voice and use computer animation for the dancing.

But Barothy is in a quandary. Which anniversary should she celebrate—The Wizard of Oz's 70th—or Barbie's 50th? (Take it from me, Girlfriend, bat those huge eyelashes, and always own up to the smaller number...)

Oh, wait—this just in from Barothy's publicist—She is going to celebrate BOTH—at The Pulpwood Queen's 10th Anniversary Girlfriend's Weekend! (Barbie is way smarter than we thought...)

You, go girl!

BCC 🍷

